If there is one thing most people can agree on, it's that time goes by too quickly. One day you are a parent carpooling children to soccer practice, and before you know it, you're moving them into their college dormitories.

In the process of putting her newly-turned upside-down life in perspective, author Deanna Beisser learns some valuable lessons that she hopes will encourage others to...

Think about what you really want from life. Reevaluate your past and set new goals for your future. Uncover new or hidden interests and talents. Embrace life's changes with a positive attitude. Keep yourself motivated and confident in your abilities. Start living the life you've always wanted.

Rarely are we given an opportunity to reinvent ourselves. When those moments occur, we can choose to sit at home and wait for life to come to us, or we can grab ahold of it and steer it in the direction we want to go. For those who are willing to make some choices and take some chances, life can be anything you want it to be. It all begins by asking yourself: WHAT WILL TOMORROW BRING?
