After five years, the peachy romance with Sweden has shrivelled to a desiccated prune and mom is ready to run for the hills - be they in Israel, Iceland, Japan, underwater... After five minutes in school, 7-year old Attila is going on 25 and ready to steer his mom as far from school as possible and for as long as the parental dual custody spurts allow. While he's sprinting toward puberty, mom's reluctant approach to middle age is moving at tectonic plate pace. Will the hair raising encounters with dodgy taxi drivers, violent policemen and not too infrequent disasters during their escapades strengthen their bond? Will they laugh their way through financial constraints and find common ground?
