THE END OF THE WORLD WILL COME FROM WITHIN

It first appears in Africa--hideous and unstoppable--an all-consuming terror unlike anything the world has ever seen.

Two years later, it resurfaces to feed on the residents of a small New England town. Within days, only a handful survive--including one young woman whose blood is the serum of life--miraculously pared to bear witness to the plague's terrible wrath.

Not even the dreaded Ebola possesses the apocalyptic power of this loathsome scourge that devastates the flesh and the soul. Two brilliant scientists--now bitter rivals--contained it once using the most extreme methods. But the virus that has reemerged is a thousand times stronger. . .and it is changing. No one is safe from the contagion that devours but is never sated, from the pestilence that walks like a man.

Woe to the Earth. The Zero hour has come.
